Brad:

The city has been saying it's meeting all drinking water standards, including TTHM, recently.

They released the attached chart today, showing the results of testing done in late January -- in advance of the official quarterly testing this month -- which has already been sent to the DEQ.

Can someone from the DEQ comment on these results, which show improvement over the results from November?

Also, can you give us an idea of when the new water test results for this quarter will be available?

Thanks,

Ron Fonger
