John O'Brien, from the Genesee Co Drain Commission, and I have been playing telephone tag for the past few days. In his messages, John indicated that he wanted to talk about the intake's design.

It is now official. GDCD has signed design engineering contracts on the design of the crib, intake line and junction box. Planning a construction start this construction season. Other design elements will be implemented later. No official word on how Flint City will decide. As stated in the MDEQ meeting 3/20, City/County are following a dual track on water supply issues. Will contact Saginaw Bay District office soon to establish contact and define the intake scope. Any questions let me know.
