To be clear: we are not publically releasing the quarterly zip code table or the graph. The zip code table is for internal use only to answer any questions that come in. We are only publically releasing the one-pager.

All, the tables aren't copying well into word, so the excel work book is attached.
Please let me know if you have any further questions.

We should get both the one for internal use only with all the numbers and the public version as well.

Very nice summary. The heading for WIC Children needs to be bumped to the next line and I agree with Eden that we should put water issues to the top of the list under Reducing and Removing Lead Exposure. Could we also revise the 3rd sentence in that bullet to read:

"The lead in household water usually comes from the service line that connects your house to the water main or the plumbing in your house, not from the local water supply."

Lead service lines are the biggest lead contributor and are owned in part by the water supply, so it's incorrect to lay all the blame on household plumbing.

Thanks Angela...I have saved your version of the report to work from in the future...There will likely continue to be changes to the formatting as we add more data, but I'll be sure to keep the logo on it.

I have attached some of my suggestions for the talking points. These going to be updated, I assume with each release of the report? There are a lot...Also, do we want to explain why 5ug/dL is our significant cut-off anywhere in the talking points or are the people receiving these pretty well-versed in the ways of lead by now?

Good morning,

Attached is an updated report that includes the MDHHS logo. Because that's been added in, I had to shift the format a bit so when updating this report going forward, please use this version.

Additionally, I've attached updated talking points for Flint which include points regarding this report on the first page. Please review these and let me know if there are any concerns.

Thank you,

Angela

Attached is the blood lead testing report with the edits Eden and I discussed in pdf and InDesign formats.

Please keep in mind that the purpose of the report is to inform residents and other interested parties about blood testing efforts in Flint. It is not intended to be a technical report. Recent discussions with GCHD suggest that some of the materials currently posted at www.michigan.gov/flintwater are written at a level that is not accessible by city of Flint residents and I'm concerned that this report has already become far too busy for many people to take in the information.

A technical description of the background and data analysis methods is on the to-do list, but will require additional time to complete. I expect it will include a detailed description of the analysis comparing BILL before and after the Wtch, as well as the results of our current efforts and all the methods used.
