Thanks, Mona. I wonder if they took the cinnamon rolls off the menu???

Have a safe trip back!

Sorry for the delay. Just finished my presentations in chilly Marquette and had a chance to send you toxic stress info. (Dean, I did not have a chance to find the cinnamon roll.)

1) Attached is my Marquette presentation, Healthy Communities Start with Healthy Kids, which is briefly about toxic stress and incorporates the lead issue.

2) Also below are links to two of the foundational articles in Pediatrics about Toxic Stress.

3) An incredible website for more toxic stress info is run by Dr Shonkoff at the Harvard Center on the Developing Child. I highly recommend it. <http://developingchild.harvard.edu>

4) Lastly, below is a link to my MSU Rx talk from last year (TED-like talk) which is also about toxic stress and pediatric prevention work in Flint. <https://vimeo.com/user21837743/review/107582466/b4c78211ef>
