Yes, that's right. The percentage of missed matches is very low, so it's considered a good resource for providers---but we want to make it better.

It is pulled from the lead database in the warehouse. My understanding from Bob is that there are some concerns about the match in the warehouse, with a lot of lead reports that don't match with MICR. But unless Bob has other information, this probably is the best way for the provider to look for now. Bob -- your thoughts?

Sorry to interrupt your call, Martha...I just have a quick question...

One message that GCHD wanted to be included in outreach materials was that parents should request that their medical providers look in MCIR to see if/when their child was tested for lead.

Rachel Potter confirmed that there is that option in MCIR, but she wasn't sure how it was updated in the system -- do doctors have to enter it directly or does it pull from the data warehouse? Are results saved to?

If we incorporate this request into the messaging, I just want to make sure that it will actually provide the answer they're looking for.

Thanks!
