Kim and Mary Grace- note below---were there any calls by you or Ag to family about the dogs chewing on wood? The family may have misinterpreted-- I ran into this myself when talking about tother sources of lead in households to the general public and media- the community is highly sensitized to issues of water, even if there may have been another source---makes it hard to investigate the dog issue, I know. Linda seems to have the best relationship with the family at this point, so she has been our primary spokesperson with them.

Karen Lishinski and I just spoke with the mother and conveyed the family's test results. It's uncertain at this time if we'll be doing any sampling at their home. Apparently [PHI] had a conversation yesterday with someone that made him (and her) very angry. Not sure who, but I've checked here and it was not anyone in DEH. The implication was that the family, wife, kids and dogs were all chewing on the woodwork. Family is feeling that the state is just looking to lay blame for the lead poisoning anywhere but the water. I've asked [PHI] to 1) talk with their Dr. about their test results, 2) talk to her husband about testing the house and water, and 3) talk directly to me if they have concerns or question.

Hi Nancy – just talked with Linda. Please have your program nurse call if you can this evening, if you think that will work out. Thanks so much for working so late.

I have also been thinking about the family, and that they would probably want to know the results tonight. Can we make a call to them tonight? I don't know if Linda will see this tonight. Linda, did you make a plan to call them back, or do you want our program nurse to make that call?
