Excellent work Jim (I also note the 12:46 am time on your e-mail).

I would not expect significant exposure for adults from hand to mouth behavior or skin adsorption during hand washing. Please be sure they sample any kitchen taps that are used for food preparation. There could be some concern for effectiveness of the tap filters if lead concentrations are outside the range tested by NSF when certifying the filters.

I met with Michelle Johnson, Director of Operations.

- On 10/16 United Way delivered filters to Whaley.
- Whaley recently replaced filter cartridges, because red indicator light.
- Children drink only bottled water from many donated sources.
- Whaley maintenance crew sampled water, but mistakenly only filled the liter bottles 1/2 way to top.
- The 2.516ppm is the employee restroom @ admin building. It's a newer hand sink fixture, but old plumbing. I couldn't remove aerator to check for lead particulate, because of the fixture design. No valve, so posted "Do Not Use." At the extreme level, I want to check with MDHHS toxicology regarding potential risks from lead residual from hands to mouth (not skin absorption)
- .213 is off site at Rotary and no children are there. It will be posted or made inaccessible until demonstrated to be safe.
- .029 is a classroom and concerning. Michelle will check in morning to see if it is drinking water and follow up with me.
- Tomorrow appropriate resampling is scheduled by Whaley staff. I recommended sampling drinking fountains also and make them inaccessible until demonstrated safe.
- Michelle estimated 27 children at Whaley,
 - A. None age 0-5,
 - B. One age 6,
 - C. One age 8
 - D. Twenty-five age 11-16.
- Michelle indicated most children have same Hurley doctor, but not sure who physician's name.
- She referred me to Michelle Shamel, Whaley's Director of Clinical for information regarding blood testing and physician. I'll follow up with her in morning.

Thanks. I'm stopping by Whaley tonight to make sure that no one is drinking the water and the concerns below are addressed.

I received the attached water results this afternoon and I will bring a copy to help me identify the fixture locations at Whaley. I intend to have the manager shut off the valve at 2.516ppm, p.39 of the attachment. Results on p. 19, 29, 32, 39, 48 are all elevated at Whaley and others are concerning.
