Linda,

Martha wants to discuss this a little and I have to let her and are digging farther.

Bob

Hi Bob,

Corinne and Sarah looked at our two tables and couldn't find a discernable pattern. In some zips I have more and in others you have more.

Yan and I documented the data steps and the numbers at each step, and also by age group.

Raw data set from warehouse n= 179,374

156,069 have one test per year

23,305 duplicate tests (2-22 tests)

10,906 retained highest test per individual

Total analytic set 156,069 + 10,906= 166,975

The attached word document contains the analysis by age group.

I pulled from the warehouse yesterday and there were 179,374 records, which is the same number as I had two weeks ago.

Do you have time this morning to look into this? I have a call at 10 am, and meetings all afternoon, so can meet with you sometime this morning.
