
From: Shaw, Eric (DEQ)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 8:48 AM
To: Andorfer, Bob (MDARD); Minicuci, Angela (DHHS); Paciorek, Josh (GOV); Murray, David (GOV)
Cc: Holton, Jennifer (MDARD)
Subject: RE: Is Your Child Safe From Lead Poisoning? Handout.

Those properties were my fault this time. I sent it over and never thought to do it. My apologies.

From: Andorfer, Bob (MDARD)
Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 8:47 AM
To: Minicuci, Angela (DHHS); Paciorek, Josh (GOV); Murray, David (GOV)
Cc: Shaw, Eric (DEQ); Holton, Jennifer (MDARD)
Subject: RE: Is Your Child Safe From Lead Poisoning? Handout.

That has been updated.

Actually, the PDF did not have the Document Properties, but I was able to take them from the last version. Obviously, we are in the middle of an important issue right now, but for future reference, you can find the Document Properties by right clicking on any PDF and a info box will appear:

If you have Adobe Acrobat Standard or Professional you should be able to complete these fields in any PDF that you open. If you don't have either of those programs, they can be filled in using PDF Creator when documents are converted from Word to PDF. Not sure about how this works with other programs such as Illustrator.

Bob