This came up in our meeting. Let's forward this to TY and ask them for a brief explanation why City's decision to pull these options were not prudent plus I think DWSD modified their proposal from that point.

Here is the bullet from OFR's memo regarding the DWSD blend options, which TYJT project as being the cheapest.

- At a January 10, 2013 meeting, Flint officials eliminated all of the DWSD Imlay City options (which were the cheapest DWSD options) over concerns of owning and maintaining the 72" water main.

They also eliminated consideration of any of the blending options originally proposed to DWSD, in part over concerns of added costs to soften the water. This effectively left the only options remaining under consideration by Flint to be the 100% DWSD option (which TYJT estimated to be more expensive than either of the KWA cost options) or joining KWA.

Fyi... in case you missed it I heard about this on the news this a.m.

Flint City Council approves resolution to buy water from Karegnondi, state approval still needed

FLINT, MI – Flint is one step closer to getting its water from Lake Huron as part of the Karegnondi Water Authority.

The vote, approved 7-1 at the Flint City Council meeting Monday, March 25, may have set in motion the end to Flint paying to get its water from Detroit.

Under the proposal, Flint would get 16 million gallons per day of raw water from Lake Huron, pipe it to Flint for treatment and then sell it to customers throughout the city. Another 2 million gallons per day would come from the Flint River and will be treated in Flint.

Mayor Dayne Walling said the Department of Environmental Quality must approve Flint's getting 2 million gallons per day from the Flint River.

Tuesday's meeting followed weeks of discussions and special meetings surrounding the resolution.

"We got there," Councilman Joshua Freeman said. "That's the important thing."

There were more than 50 people at Monday's meeting.

"Going with Karegnondi is the best decision. We have no opinion on the economics of the decision," said Rebecca Fedewa, Flint River Watershed Coalition executive director. "If we start drawing water out of the Flint River, we are at risk of having to start releasing water from our reservoirs."

Genesee County Drain Commissioner Jeff Wright said the decision must still be approved by a county water and waste advisory board. The KWA board will then be reconvened for final approval.

Wright said construction could start in May.

State treasury officials still must approve the city council's move because Flint has an emergency
